Kehl. Three special models – three complete attractive equipment ranges – one name: SKYLINE. At the start of the new season, Bürstner will be shaking up the market with three special models that score both in terms of the on-board equipment, as well as the interior and exterior design – all at a discounted price. The Lyseo Time and the Campeo feature the modern Skyline "wohnfühlen" home from home feel interior design with upholstery in anthracite and furniture with a matt white lacquered finish, as well as black appliqué details and handles.

Lyseo Time Skyline

This special model will be launched on the market as a stylish low profile semi-integrated vehicle with a complete range of standard equipment that are usually only available as optional extra packs. Even the exterior of the Lyseo Time Skyline is already eye-catching: the cab, standard finish Lanzarote Grey, is completed by a modern SKYLINE exterior design. On the inside, customers will find the modern SKYLINE interior design. The special model is available in three layout versions – T690 G, T 726 G and T 732. The Lyseo Time Skyline already comes with the more extensive basic chassis equipment pack "Flex" with a 120PS engine and manual transmission, all-season tyres on alloy wheels, a front spoiler painted in the vehicle colour, a Pioneer multimedia system with reversing camera, a leather steering wheel and much more. There is also an additional pack of extras including, for example, a hinged sunroof, a lighting pack and many other special equipment elements.

Campeo Skyline

To benefit from the Skyline special equipment for the campervan Campeo, customers simply book the SKYLINE pack on top of their chosen basic Campeo model (C 540/C 600). Their Campeo then immediately comes with extensive special equipment that are already obvious from the outside: a special paint finish called Lanzarote Grey, the spoiler protection guard and the stylish SKYLINE exterior graphics make this Campeo a very special vehicle. The SKYLINE pack also includes a lighting pack, a Wi-Fi Connect module, as well as the more sophisticated chassis "Flex" equipment with a front spoiler painted in the vehicle colour, front fog lights, 16" bicolour alloy wheels, a leather steering wheel, chrome-rimmed dashboard instruments and much more. The modern SKYLINE interior design perfects the #wohnen feel home away from home feel.

Premio and Premio Plus Skyline

An attractive additional SKYLINE pack can also be ordered for two layouts of the caravan model ranges Premio and Premio Plus – the 460 TS and the 510 TK. It includes an extensive range of SKYLINE equipment such as alloy wheels, front windows and a service hatch (460 TS) / sliding window in the kitchen and a garage hatch (510 TK), a smooth finish, a Heki rooflight, a Truma blown air heating system/hot water supply and much more.

"Eco-Line" fabrics for more sustainability

The topic of sustainability played a major role when it came to deciding on the Skyline upholstery design choices. The anthracite-coloured faux leather "Skai Evida" has an 80% natural, renewable, regionally sourced raw material content, is phthalate-free, and is produced in Germany. This faux leather is manufactured in a carbon neutral way using renewable energy sources. The SKYLINE interior design option combines "Skai Evida" with the "Eco-Line" fabric "Eco Loop", which is based on recycled PET. This Oeko-Tex® certified, high-quality and robust fabric is manufactured from PET bottles with the aid of a purely mechanical and thermal upcycling process. It is intentionally manufactured without the addition of controversial virgin polyester. "Eco-Loop" recovers its shape and is easy to clean.

The SKYLINE special models will make their debut at the 2024 Caravan Salon in Düsseldorf at Bürstner's exhibition stand D06 in Hall 6 and will shortly also be on display at all Bürstner dealer showrooms.
